* Dogs from the same family are initially assessed in the pool individually. This is to ensure that they are confident enough to swim without assistance from the hydrotherapist when more than one dog is in the pool. The dogs may need more than one session alone before swimming together, and must be from the same family. These sessions are classed as fun and fitness, and if there is a medical condition present, the dog will be unable to take part in a group session.

All dogs are accompanied into the pool with a hydrotherapist.

With the exception of puppy swims and initial assessments, appointments are booked for 40 minutes with a maximum of 25 minutes in the pool, this to allow safe changeover of dogs. However, the length of the session depends on your pets' medical condition, needs and ability. After an assessment and introduction to the pool, some dogs may only spend a few minutes in the water on their first visit. This can quickly rise to the full-length session as your dog's medical condition/fitness improves. All dogs are showered after their session and towel dried to remove excess water. A fleece or towelling coat aids the drying process on the way home.
